NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Accounting Practices

The financial statements of Fidelity and Guaranty Life Insurance Company of New York ("the Company") are presented on the basis of accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the New York State Department of Financial Services ("NYDFS").

The NYDFS recognizes only statutory accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the State of New York for determining and reporting the financial condition and results of operations of an insurance company and for determining its solvency under New York Insurance Law. The National Association of Insurance Commissioners' ("NAIC") Accounting Practices and Procedures Manual, version effective January 1, 2001, ("NAIC SAP") has been adopted as a component of prescribed or permitted practices by the State of New York. The Company follows these prescribed practices and does not use other permitted practices and, as such, there is no Risk Based Capital effect.

A reconciliation of the Company's net income and capital and surplus between NAIC SAP and practices prescribed or permitted by the State of New York is shown below:

NET INCOME	State of Domicile	12/31/2014	12/31/2013

B. Use of Estimates in the Preparation of the Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Statutory Accounting Principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities. It also requires disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

C. Accounting Policy

Life premiums are recognized as income over the premium paying period of the related policies. Annuity considerations are recognized as revenue when received. Expenses incurred in connection with acquiring new insurance business, including acquisition costs such as sales commissions, are charged to operations as incurred.

The amount of dividends to be paid to policyholders is determined annually by the Company's Board of Directors. The aggregate amount of policyholders' dividends is related to actual interest, mortality, morbidity, and expense experience for the year and judgment as to the appropriate level of statutory surplus to be retained by the Company.

In addition, the Company uses the following accounting policies:

(1) Short-term investments are stated at amortized cost.
(2) Bonds not backed by other loans are stated at amortized cost using the interest method, except for those bonds deemed to be other-than-temporarily impaired that are written down to estimated fair value and those bonds rated NAIC 6 which are carried at the lower of amortized cost or fair value.
(3) Common stocks are stated at fair value except that investments in stocks of uncombined subsidiaries and affiliates in which the Company has an interest of 10% or more are carried on the equity basis.

(4) Preferred stocks are stated at amortized cost except those preferred stocks rated NAIC 4 or lower, which are carried at the lower of amortized cost or fair value, or those preferred stocks deemed to be other-than-temporarily impaired which are written down to estimated fair value.
(5) Mortgage loans on real estate are stated at the unpaid principal balance. The Company did not have any investments in mortgage loans as of December 31, 2013 and 2014. However, the Company had investments in mortgage loans during 2013.
(6) Loan-backed and structured securities are stated at either amortized cost or, for those securities rated NAIC 6, the lower of amortized cost or fair value. Loan-backed and structured securities that are deemed to be other-than-temporarily impaired are written down through the statement of operations to fair value or to the amount of the discounted estimated future cash flows. See Note 5D (5) for the circumstances that result in the recognition of an other-than-temporary impairment loss. The retrospective adjustment method is used to value all securities except for interest only securities or securities where the yield had become negative. These securities are valued using the prospective method.
(7) The Company does not own any stock of affiliated companies.
(8) The Company does not have any ownership interests in joint ventures, partnerships or limited liability companies.
(9) All derivatives are stated at fair value.
(10) The Company does not have any accident and health business.
(11) The Company does not have any accident and health business.
(12) Effective January 1, 2014, the Company changed its accounting policy related to the capitalization of fixed assets to (1) include internal development costs and (2) refine the estimated useful life periods for each fixed asset category. The effects of these changes were immaterial to the current and prior year fixed assets and depreciation expense.
(13) There are no pharmaceutical rebate receivables.

2. Accounting Changes and Corrections of Errors

The Company had no accounting changes to report in 2014.

3. Business Combinations and Goodwill

There were no business combinations completed during the year ended December 31, 2014.

4. Discontinued Operations

There were no business segments that were separated from continuing operations during the year ended December 31, 2014.

5. Investments

A. Mortgage Loans, including Mezzanine Real Estate Loans

The Company had no mortgage loan or mezzanine real estate loan investments as of December 31, 2014 and 2013.

B. Debt Restructuring

The Company is not a creditor in any debt restructurings.

C. Reverse Mortgages

The Company does not own any investments in reverse mortgages.

D. Loan-Backed and Structured Securities

(1) Prepayment assumptions for single class and multi-class mortgage-backed and asset-backed securities were obtained from dealer survey values and are consistent with the current interest rate and economic environment.

(2) The Company did not recognize any other-than-temporary impairments during 2014 related to the intent to sell the security or the Company not having the intent and ability to retain the security until its amortized cost is recovered.

(3) During 2014, the Company did not recognize any other-than-temporary impairments due to the present value of cash flows expected to be collected being less than the amortized cost basis for loan-backed and structured securities.

(4) The following table presents the unrealized loss aging for the Company's investments in loan-backed and structured securities at December 31, 2014 by length of time the security was in a continuous unrealized loss position.

a) The aggregate amount of unrealized losses:

1. Less than 12 Months $ 240,136
2. 12 Months or Longer $ 354,108

b) The aggregate related fair value of securities with unrealized losses:

1. Less than 12 Months $19,306,331
2. 12 Months or Longer $11,135,710

(5) If the fair value of a loan-backed or structured security is less than its amortized cost basis at the balance-sheet date, the Company determines whether the following circumstances exist and, if so, recognizes an other-than-temporary impairment loss:

- If the Company intends to sell the security or does not have the intent and ability to retain the security until its amortized cost is recovered, the security is other-than-temporarily impaired. A realized loss is recognized for the entire difference between the security's amortized cost and its fair value at the balance-sheet date.

- If the Company does not expect to recover the entire amortized cost from the present value of the security's future cash flows, it cannot assert it has the ability to recover the security's amortized cost even though it has no intent to sell and has the intent and ability to retain. The security is therefore other-than-temporarily impaired. A realized loss is recognized for the non-interest-related decline, which is the difference between the security's amortized cost and the present value of cash flows expected to be collected.

E. Repurchase Agreements and/or Securities Lending Transactions

The Company did not have any repurchase agreements or securities lending transactions during 2013 and 2014.

F. Real Estate

The Company has no investments in Real Estate.

G. Investments in Low-Income Housing Tax Credits (LIHTC)

The Company has no investments in low-income housing tax credits at December 31, 2014.

6. Joint Ventures, Partnerships and Limited Liability Companies

The Company does not have any investments in Joint Ventures, Partnerships or Limited Liability Companies at December 31, 2014.

7. Investment Income

A. Due and accrued income is excluded from surplus on the following bases:

Bonds - on bonds in default.

B. The Company did not have any due and accrued income excluded from surplus for 2014.

8. Derivative Instruments

A. The derivative instruments used by the Company expose the Company to potential credit loss in the event of nonperformance by counterparties. The amount of exposure is the fair value for such agreements with each counterparty if the fair value is in the Company's favor. The credit risk associated with these agreements is minimized by purchasing agreements from counterparties with NAIC designations of "1." Additionally, the Company maintains a policy requiring all derivative contracts to be governed by International Swaps and Derivatives Association ("ISDA") Master Agreements. The Company is required to maintain minimum ratings as a matter of routine practice in negotiating ISDA agreements. Under some ISDA agreements, the Company has agreed to maintain certain financial strength ratings. A downgrade below these levels could result in termination of the open derivative contracts between the parties, at which time any amounts payable by the Company or the counterparty would be dependent on the market value of the underlying derivative contracts. In certain transactions, the Company and the counterparty have entered into a collateral support agreement requiring either party to post collateral when the net exposures exceed pre-determined thresholds. These thresholds vary by counterparty and credit rating.

At December 31, 2014, the total exposure for options owned was $2.3 million and the maximum exposure with any individual counterparty was $2.3 million. The total notional amount of the options held at December 31, 2014 was $121.7 million. The Company held no collateral at December 31, 2014 to mitigate the exposure of the options owned.

The derivatives used by the Company expose the Company to market risk (market movements). The Company's derivative portfolio is used to economically hedge the equity linked liability underlying its fixed indexed annuity ("FIA") products and, therefore, expects that movements in the fair value of the derivative portfolio would be offset by changes in the fair value of the hedged FIA liabilities.

B. The Company uses a static hedging program to hedge the equity linked liability underlying its FIA products. Over the counter equity call options are used to hedge market exposures of the liabilities with the objective of offsetting fair value changes. The indices underlying the options are the same indices referenced by the FIAs. With the static hedge program, the hedge is set at the beginning of the index credit period and rebalancing of the positions is not necessary. Static hedging exposes the Company to the risk that adequate capacity in derivatives markets may not exist to execute the strategy.

At December 31, 2014 and 2013, the Company held $177.2 million and $155.0 million, respectively, of reserves related to FIA contracts. The Company follows CARVM and Actuarial Guideline XXXV for the calculation of the embedded equity call option in the Company's FIA products. The reserve liability recognizes the change in the value of the index over the index period of the contract whereas the derivative instruments are marked to market at each reporting date, and in addition, the reserve liability is also not allowed to be less than the cash value or minimum guaranteed surrender value, thus creating a mismatch in declining equity markets.

C. Options are valued at fair value. The fair value of options are based upon valuation pricing models and represent what the Company would expect to receive or pay at the balance sheet date if the Company cancelled the options, entered into offsetting option positions, or exercised the options. Derivative instruments are marked to market through surplus (fair value accounting). Realized gains (losses) on derivative instruments are included in the Interest Maintenance Reserve and amortized into income over the remaining duration of the derivative contract. Long option positions are included in invested assets.

The Company does not have reportable information for items D through F.

20. Fair Value Measurements

A. The Company's measurement of fair value is based on assumptions used by market participants in pricing the asset or liability, which may include inherent risk, restrictions on the sale or use of an asset or non-performance risk. The Company's estimate of an exchange price is the price in an orderly transaction between market participants to sell the asset or transfer the liability ("exit price") in the principal market, or the most advantageous market in the absence of a principal market, for that asset or liability, as opposed to the price that would be paid to acquire the asset or receive a liability ("entry price").

(1) Fair Value Measurements at December 31, 2014:

(1) Description	(2) (Level 1)	(3) (Level 2)	(4) (Level 3)	(5) Total
Assets at fair value:
Derivative instruments	$ -	$ 2,311,229	$ -	$ 2,311,229
Total assets at fair value	$ -	$ 2,311,229	$ -	$ 2,311,229

(2) Fair Value Measurements in (Level 3) of the Fair Value Hierarchy

No fair value measurements were determined using significant unobservable inputs (Level 3). Level 3 securities trade in less liquid or illiquid markets with limited or no pricing information. The valuation relies on management's judgment concerning the discount rate used in calculating expected cash flows, credit quality, industry sector performance and expected maturity.

(3) The Company's policy is to recognize transfers in and transfers out of the fair value hierarchy levels as of the actual date of the event or change in circumstances that caused the transfer.

(4) Valuation techniques and inputs used in Fair Value Measurements for Level 2:

Derivative Instruments - The fair value of derivative assets is based upon valuation pricing models and represents what the Company would expect to receive or pay at the balance sheet date if the Company cancelled the options, entered into offsetting positions, or exercised the options. Fair values for the options are determined externally by an independent actuarial firm using market observable inputs, including interest rates, yield curve volatilities, etc. Credit risk related to the counterparty is considered when estimating the fair values of the options. However, the Company is largely protected by collateral arrangements with counterparties.

F. Subprime Mortgage Related Risk Exposure

1. Exposure to subprime mortgage risk is defined using market accepted guidelines on FICO scores, original loan to value ratios and documentation. Additionally, the evaluation of securities includes reviewing the quality of the servicer, pool specific statistics, the position of the security within the capital structure of the trust holding the mortgages and the credit enhancement available to protect the principal value of the security being evaluated. Accepted guidelines on FICO scores and documentation include the following characteristics:

- Original loan to values ratios on these loans tend to be higher in 2006 and 2007 (80% to 100% when accounting for subsequent second liens). In 2004 and earlier subprime origination, loan to value ratios were lower at origination (65% to 80%).
- FICO scores are in the lower range (FICO scores range from 300 to 800, 620 and below is typically considered subprime).
- No documentation or low documentation
- The borrower's rate at the time of origination is much higher than the conforming rate at the time which is referred to as the spread at the time of origination
- Debt to income ratios on these borrowers may be higher.
- In the past there were some issuers whose sole origination was subprime loans
- Since poorer quality loans typically have higher losses, the amount of subordination on a package of subprime loans is much higher than that of prime collateral.

Risk exposure associated with subprime market fluctuation and cash flow deterioration is managed by actively monitoring and trading securities in the non-agency residential mortgage backed (NA RMBS) sector focusing on individual issue selection with a bias towards more seasoned collateral. When a security has a market price below the book price, the decision to sell the security and realize the loss or hold the security and recognize the unrealized loss is dependent upon the active monitoring of the portfolio and the fundamental analysis of the structure and underlying loans on an individual security.

2. Direct exposure to subprime mortgages through investments – None

3. The Company has direct exposure thorough other investments:
